FLARE is a new breakthrough vicarious calibration network by Labsphere

FLARE provides static and mobile reference sites available to subscribers at a fraction of the cost of conventional calibration methods. Our data package, combined with customers' images, provide unprecedented levels of validation information.